DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This true 1½-story frame house faces west. The two-bay building is doubled in size by a two-bay rear ell. The entrance appears in the facade's southern bay. An interior brick chimney heats the north end.

Two over two sash light the first floor, and particularly short two over two sash light the half-story. Two gabled dormers also light this level - one in the facade, and the second in the ell's south roof slope.

Asphalt shingles cover the roof. Narrow novelty siding sheathes the walls. The foundation is covered with concrete.

A modern screened porch covers the facade, and a one-story addition extends from the south side of the house.
